Elk Point 4-H weighs in on a new project year

Twelve Beef Steer Project members of Elk Point 4-H Multi Club weighed, tagged and treated their animals with pour-on parasite control at the club's annual weigh day on Sunday. Cathy Ockerman shows daughter Fawn, a junior member of the club, how to zero in on the weight of her steer.

Extravaganza planning in final stages

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Elk Point's annual Christmas Extravaganza is just over two weeks away, and the final touches are being added to the plans for the late afternoon and evening of Friday, Nov. 26.

A steady stream of donations have been coming in to help fund the event, and Extravaganza committee chair Sandy Smith hopes that will continue until a fundraising goal of approximately $11,000 is reached to cover all the expenses.

This is an event geared to family fun, and new attractions have been added to the lineup this year. Activity Lane for youngsters five and under featuring such games as beanbag toss, an obstacle course and a snowball and spoon carry will be open from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m., while at the same time, older youngsters age six to 12 will follow the clues to seven downtown locations in a scavenger hunt. Volunteers from F. G. Miller High School will pitch in to assist with these events. From 7:30 to 9 p.m., face painting will be available at Footprints, where the play centre will also be open to enjoy free of charge.

In addition to the traditional photos with Santa at the Seniors' Recreation Centre from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. and 7:45 to 9:30 p.m., youngsters visiting that location will have the opportunity to make a Christmas craft.

The Winter Wonderland Parade will line up on Railway Ave. west of 50 Street, starting at 6:15 p.m. and will start winding its way up Main Street at 7 p.m. There is no need to register entries, just join in and enjoy entertaining the crowds along the route.

Horse-drawn wagon rides are also a big part of the entertainment, and will start immediately after the conclusion of the parade, going until approximately 9:30 p.m. This year, the wagon rides will depart from the Elk Point Visitor Information Eco Centre at the end of Main Street.

Stage entertainment near a roaring bonfire in the Servus Credit Union parking lot, free hot chocolate and a hot dog sale in the credit union lobby and a gigantic craft, trade and book sale at F. G. Miller High School are also on the agenda.

Province unveils health act to improve service

By JANANI WHITFIELD
Review Contributor

Health care continually tops the list of Albertans' key concerns, and the government is taking steps to address that concern with Bill 17, the Alberta Health Act, according to Ray Danyluk, MLA for Lac La Biche-St. Paul-Two Hills.

The health act, introduced Oct. 28, clearly puts people first, says Danyluk, with the introduction of a health charter which "acknowledges that health and health care is a partnership between individuals and families and communities and health providers and the government." The charter lays out principles for health institutions, facility operators and health providers. The act also introduces a health advocate to review complaints and to report to the minister on health care to give Albertans "an avenue to get the ear of the minister," said Danyluk.

In his own office, he has also taken a step of encouraging communication by designating a constituency assistant to handle all health inquiries. "We want to make sure we have a direct line to challenges that are out there," he said.

The government has recently come under fire over wait times in emergency rooms, with reports that patients are calling 911 from emergency rooms after long wait times, with some patients reportedly waiting up to 20 hours for emergency care. This has been partly fuelled by what Danyluk calls the "bottleneck of continuing care," with people taking up acute care beds that should really be moved elsewhere. "This province is working very hard to increase the number of beds in continuing care," he said, adding this should alleviate the problem, in conjunction with adding more acute care beds.

He notes that resources devoted to health have grown quite a bit in the nine years he's been in office. When he was first elected in 2001, he estimates the health budget was about $5 billion, representing roughly 30 per cent of a total budget of about $17 billion. Now, health care represents more than 45 per cent of budget spending, with $14 billion allocated to health in a budget of about $30 billion. He maintains funding needs to strike the right balance, because increases to health care spending will come at a cost to other programs.

"I think it's critical that wherever funding is going, it's going in the right direction. That's what we're trying to do."

However, Shayne Sasaki, Wildrose Alliance party candidate in the constituency, said the result of increasing spending has only been more crowded hospitals, longer emergency room wait times and family doctor shortages.

Fundraiser event to aid Spring Park fire victims

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

The communities of Ferguson Flats, Spring Park, Lindbergh and Elk Point are rallying to support Rob and Melinda Heathcote and family, who lost their home to fire in the early hours of Oct. 31. The home's metal roof slowed down the best efforts of the Elk Point Volunteer Fire Department, making it very difficult for them to access the fire and their water supply was depleted before the fire could be contained.

Friends, neighbours and family were quick to respond with donations of immediate essentials, and some concerned individuals went one step further, setting up a fundraising event to provide further help.

A chili supper, dance with toonie bar, and live and silent auctions with all proceeds going to assist the Heathcotes will be held at the Elk Point Elks Hall on Friday, Nov. 12, starting at 5:30 p.m.

"We have lots of auction items," Cathy Ockerman, one of the organizers of the event, said Monday. Anyone wishing to donate auction items may phone her at 780-724-2505 or Robbi Allen at 780-724-2124.

Auction donations to date include five bred heifers, an Oilers jersey, Oilers tickets, tickets to Carrie Underwood and Ozzy Osbourne concerts and much more.

Popular local DJ Rob Hendriks has donated his services to provide music for the event, and the Golden Loaf Bakery is donating the buns for the supper.

Ockerman is hoping to add an educational component to the event, by urging families to read their home insurance policies carefully, and even to check out their coverage with their insurance agent.

"Everyone thinks they're fully covered, but that's not the way it works."

Coverage of household contents may be misleading, because replacement cost of an item takes into consideration the age of that item, with its original value depreciated accordingly, she noted. Also, insurance companies ask that homeowners keep photographic records of their household contents in a safe place, such as a safety deposit box, and many people don't follow up on this way of cataloguing their belongings.

"Check your policy," Ockerman urges. "You just don't know when you might need it."

The huge job of transforming Elk Point's former fire hall into the new Christian Community Church is coming along nicely. A sunny Friday afternoon found volunteers Fred Wirsta and Ed Vogel installing metal siding on the sections of wall that have replaced the roll-up doors. More photos on Page 5.

Church reno takes recycling to new level

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Recycling is a growing trend, but the recycling of a former fire hall into a church takes the concept to a new level.

Elk Point Christian Community Church volunteers are well into their massive project, with the big roll-up doors replaced by walls with smaller doors and windows, plumbing hookups and wall framing in place for dual washrooms in the foyer, and a pair of handsome French doors replacing the utilitarian steel door the firefighters used to enter the building.

A pair of fragile antique stained glass windows from an old church stand ready to be installed in front of light boxes in the wall behind the pulpit at the front of the new sanctuary.

Drywalling, painting and clean-up are still ahead in this gigantic labour of love that has been undertaken by a dedicated and hardworking congregation.

A tribute of silence

For just two minutes this coming Thursday morning, a hush will cover the crowds in attendance at Remembrance Day observances across the country.

This brief period of silence was originally designed to pay tribute to the day and the moment when guns fell silent and World War I came to an end.

It has since come to be a time when we halt what we are doing and respectfully remember the sacrifice and the valour of all who have served this country and maintained the peace we still enjoy today.

Peace be with us all as we reflect in silence.

WAY BACK WHEN...

ERCB, EDO and remembrance

HERE'S THE NEWS THAT MADE THE HEADLINES OF THE LAKELAND REVIEW AND ELK POINT REVIEW FOR THE WEEK OF NOV. 9 IN...

1985

The Energy Resources Conservation Board hearing into two Dome Petroleum applications was underway after a four-hour delay due to weather conditions. Elk Point Surface Rights Association applauded the decision by Alberta Environment that water for steam injection projects in the Bonnyville and Cold Lake areas would be pumped from the North Saskatchewan River rather than taken from underground potable water sources.

1990

The Lakeland Review moved up from Wednesday to Tuesday publication for the first time. A draft report on local development was reviewed at four locations around the province and showed such concerns as volunteer burnout, lack of flexibility in grant funding, lack of education in entrepreneurial skills, lack of financial prudence and lack of community pride.

1995

Elk Point's handsome new cenotaph was the focal point for the annual Remembrance Day ceremonies, with Margaret Poitras representing mothers of servicemen and Wayne Palmer and Genevieve Russell placing wreaths for the Royal Canadian Legion. MP Deborah Grey, recording artist Michael Hart and a pastor from Drumheller were special guests at an interdenominational celebration of faith.

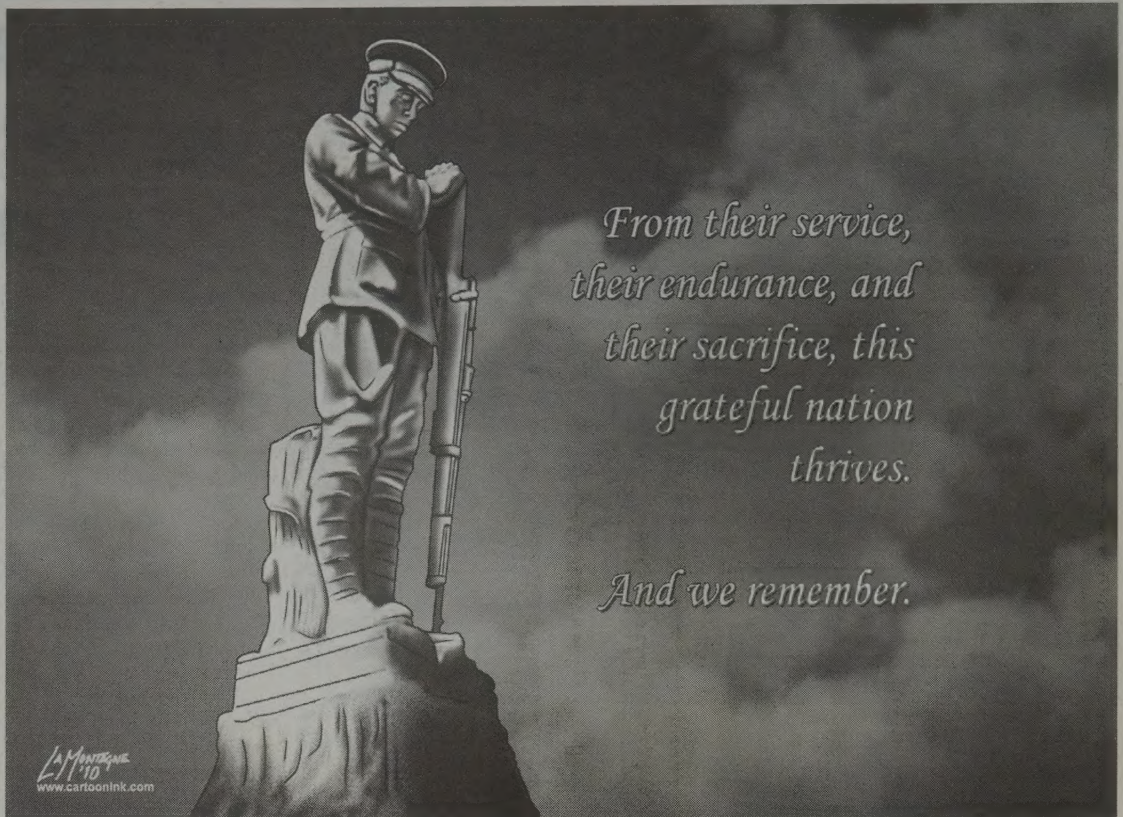

2000

Horse-drawn hayrides and shoppers' bingo were on the schedule for Extravaganza, and Santa had confirmed that he would be on hand for photos and to hear youngsters' wishes. Elk Point and District Lions set up a trust fund for Glen and Cathy Ockerman and family after their sons, Tyler and Marvin, were burned in an explosion on their farm.

2005

Métis veteran Lloyd Poitras, 85, and his great-granddaughter Jasmine Poitras-John were among a group of First Nations, Métis and Inuit who traveled to Europe for a Calling Home Ceremony, inviting the spirits of fallen warriors to return home and rest with their ancestors. Elk Point chamber of commerce was seeking pledges to fund and economic development officer position.

The Elk Point Review publishes a variety of opinions as a contribution to debate on matters of public concern. Unsigned editorials express the view of this newspaper's editorial board which includes the Publisher and the Editor. Signed pieces express the view of the individual writer.

GUEST COLUMN

Let us remember

This coming Thursday, is November 11th and is known as Remembrance Day. Whether you plan to watch the Canadian Remembrance Day Service from Ottawa on television or take part in our local Elk Point Remembrance Day Service, the important message to all of us is "Let us remember less we forget".

If you think we live in a country where there has been no war in the land, you would have forgotten the history of our country of Canada. It begins with the history of New France. The history of New France is not a peaceful one; its survival was accompanied by conflict and death. Seeking trade and security for their tenuous settlements, the earliest French settlers soon found themselves caught in the midst of ongoing tribal warfare. Samuel de Champlain's reliance on the Algonquian-speaking tribes brought an alliance which would lead to war with the rival Iroquois Confederacy. During the first half of the 17th century the French and Iroquois War came very close to destroying New France. It lasted until the Great Peace of Montreal, a peace treaty signed after 92 years of war by Governor Louis-Hector de Callière and more than 1,200 representatives of 39 First Nations.

As France expanded its territory in North America, so too did Great Britain. By the middle of the 17th century, competing claims led to small skirmishes and on occasion, bloodshed. However, the first North American war between the French and the British - 'King William's War' was nothing but a name used by the colonialists of New England in reference to the North American theatre of the War of the Grand alliance. Fought from 1689 until 1697, King William's War resulted in the deaths of several hundred people, a great many victims of massacre. At the end of the conflict, with the signing of the 1713 Treaty of Utrecht, France lost peninsular Nova Scotia, Newfoundland and its territory around Hudson Bay.

After 27 years of peace, the longest in its history, in 1740 New France entered into King George's War, an eight-year conflict that was part of the War of the Austrian Succession. There followed six years of peace before New France began fighting what would be its ultimate war. Unlike the others, the Seven Years' War began prior to the larger European conflict with which it became attached. More than 8,000 - nearly one in seven of New France's 60,000 citizens - served; casualties amounted to more than 2,000. By the time of the Treaty of Paris on 10 February 1763, in which New France was brought to an end with the ceding of nearly all of France's North American territory to Great Britain, the colony had been at war for 37 of its last 74 years.

The American War of Independence, which had been fermenting for so very long, finally began on 19 April 1775 with the battles of Lexington and Concord. The invasion of Canada, ordered by the Continental Congress on 27 June, was the first major military initiative by the Continental army. Violence was in no way limited to military acts. Within the Thirteen Colonies, many of those loyal to the Crown had been tarred and feathered; beatings, torture and lynching were not at all uncommon. The war brought about the greatest migration in the history of North America; more than 100,000 people fled the Thirteen Colonies. It is believed that most of these settled in Nova Scotia.

The greatest conflict to be fought on Canadian soil, the War of 1812 is known by many names. When mentioned in British texts, it is more often than not referred to as 'The British-American War'. In the United States, where it was once known as 'The Second War of Independence', the struggle has come to be dubbed 'The Forgotten War'. In Canada, the site of much of the bloodiest fighting, the conflict is all but a ghost, the presence of which is maintained, in the main, through a chain of sweet shops named Laura Secord, after the war's greatest heroine.

Edward Humphreys in his book called "Great Canadian Battles - Heroism and Courage Through the Years" gives more detail on all the wars fought but the bottom line is: we as Canadians seem to be modest in remembering who we are and remembering how we came to be. Let us not forget to remember this coming Thursday on November 11th. See you at 10:15 a.m. at the cenotaph.

Former fire hall gets a new look, indoors and out

The framework filling in the former fire truck doors has two recesses (top left and near the walk-in door at right) which will frame a pair of antique stained glass windows, backed by light boxes.pair

Two roomy washrooms with wheelchair access, located in the foyer area, are framed in and ready for dry-wall installation.

A pair of elegant doors have made a gig change in the appearance of the east side of the building which will be the new home of the Christian Community Church.

At the 11th hour, on the 11th day, of the 11th month, We will Remember

Remembrance Day in Elk Point will be marked on Thursday, Nov. 11, with the placing of wreaths at the cenotaph, followed by an indoor service featuring messages from guest speakers.

The parade to the cenotaph will form up at the Seniors' Recreation Centre at 10:15 a.m. and will proceed to the cenotaph for the laying of wreaths by dignitaries, organizations and individuals.

This year's indoor program is expected to start shortly before 11 a.m., with the playing of the Last Post and the observance of two minutes of silent remembrance. This year, for the first time, "In Flanders Fields" will be recited by Elk Point students in both English and French, in recognition that many Canadian lives were lost in France's battlefields.

A light lunch, courtesy of the Elk Point Pioneer Circle Seniors, will be served at the conclusion of the program.

Hockey runs in the Novice 2 families

Brother and sisters, are you ready? The Novice No. 2 team could be known as the brothers and sisters act. Five sets of siblings play on this team. Wolke and Eros Cueva, Alex and Erin Duffee, Samuel and Paige Henderson, Evan and Corbin Ockerman and Charlie and Hank Rogal. That's pretty cool, I would say.

The Novice No. 2 took to the ice Saturday at 11 a.m. against Lashburn, Sask., in what turned out to be a great match to watch, the Novice No. 2 putting up a battle, losing this one in the end, but never throwing in the towel.

Goalie Darrian Rybchinsky, standing on his head, was peppered with 38 shots, the Flames fan robbing the Lashburn team on more than a few occasions, stopped the majority of them.

Sam Henderson going end-to-end scoring for the Avalanche, plus getting hauled down on one of his many other breakaways, he stared down the perpetrator who never received any jail time in the box for his actions. Conner Lychak, doing a marvelous job of sliding and poke checking the opposition on their breakaways also scoring on a nice little chip shot upstairs. Wolke Cueva with a couple of close chances from the slot, his little brother Eros battling along the boards for the puck, James Kozicki, Devon Nazarchuk and the Ockerman brothers, Evan and Corbin creating many of the turnovers in the neutral zone. Alex and Erin Duffee doing some super fore-checking. And on 'D,' clearing the front of the net, Hank and Charlie Rogal were both helping out their neighbor Darrian.

Undefeated in their first two starts and winning both times by a large margin, the Atom Avalanche were looking for a challenge this past Saturday, when Hillmond, the home town of Wade Redden, came into town, but the Avalanche would once more rack up double digits and pick up two easy points.

"The big O" Brody Odgaard with six goals, including a real beauty on the backhand. With his soft hands, this guy is deadly around the net, Alex Hunter with four goals, and I'm sure he could have had quite a few more if the team really needed them, all of them went top shelf and add couple of helpers for Alex to boot. Who's that guy, number 4? Is that Bobby Orr? It's simply amazing what a difference a year can make, looking very impressive out there on the ice with his improved skill level, Chad Poitras with two goals and a helper. No one wanted to mess with this big defenseman, Warren Ference, winding up and letting a couple of big howitzers go from the point that found the target. Spencer Hardcastle finding the back of the net too, his from a scramble in front, gritty Angus McFarlane with a single and two assists and hard nosed Dustyn Pankiw with a helper as well.

Up before the sun on a Saturday, the Micro Novice team packed their bags and traveled to Mannville, playing in their very first game of the season and for many of these youngsters it was the very first game of their hockey career. Luke Poulin and Jaden VanMaarion with a hat trick each, Chayse Pankiw and Konnor Poitras also scoring.

Awesome teamwork and a big win for the Novice No. 1 team who were also playing in Mannville. Hungry for the puck, Hayden Ludlege with four goals, not to be outdone, his scrappy younger brother Liam with a couple, shiftier Dylan Ference with two too, Brandon Schaap and Jace Stafford finding the back of the cage with one each and scoring his first ever, Parker Allen lit up the lamp. Behind the mask for the first time, goalie Ronan Poulin slammed the door on the Hawks anytime they came knocking.

Over in St. Paul, the Elk Point imports played a impressive role in Sunday's Midget B Canadiens' 8-5 win over Cold Lake Freeze, "Dan the Man" Danny Garrett with five – count them, five – goals, Dakota "Doc" Amyotte with a single and two assists and Brett "The Moose" Ockerman scoring unassisted with another blue line zinger, Shayden Cardinal also scoring for the Canadiens. Jared Vallee with three assists, Jason Jubinville with two and Dino Meger, Blake Sellars, T. J. Wapass and Riley Chantry with one apiece. Canadiens goalie Wyatt "Mad Dog" Dewan was strong between the pipes and kept the Freeze to a single goal in each of the first two periods to pave the way for the win.

And now for the K.A. Campbell quote of the week. "Intensity and concentration and desire. He can put these three together better than anybody I ever saw."

Last week's answer to, "When I was a little boy, I wanted to be a baseball player and join the circus. With the Yankees I've accomplished both." – Graig Nettles. Do you have a sports scoop? Now you can email them to sportsound007@hotmail.com

Healthcare Auxiliary awaiting shipment of Vials for Life

By BERNICE CAPJACK
Elk Point Healthcare Auxiliary

The Elk Point Health Care Auxiliary meeting was held on Nov. 1, with 10 members present.

Vials for the Vial of Life are not in as yet. These will be done as soon as the vials are received and will be available free of charge for those who want them. They are actually a vial where you can store all the important information about yourself in your fridge, so that if something happens, the first responders to your place will know where to look. There will be a sticker to place in window or on your fridge as well.

Some Auxiliary vests have been ordered and the others will be ordered when we see the sizing.

Favors will be given for Christmas to the residents of Parkview as usual.

Rags will have to be torn if there is a need.

A new shipment of Hospital Reunion books (second printing) are in and may be purchased for $20. Some people had expressed that they would purchase them. We did run out but now we do have the order in. These are now available in the canteen at the Healthcare Center.

Our Christmas party was set for Jan. 6.

Library tea date changed

By DAPHNE SCHNURER
Librarian

Just a reminder that the November Seniors' Tea will be a week later than usual. A number of library volunteers, including one of the tea hostesses, will be in Camrose this Wednesday working at a casino on the library's behalf, so the tea has been rescheduled to next week, Wednesday, Nov. 17.

The library will be closed on Thursday, Nov. 11 for Remembrance Day.

THANK YOU

Thank You

A big thank you to our family and friends who helped us celebrate our

50th Wedding Anniversary

Thanks to: Sherry, Vicki and crew for the wonderful lunch; to Jayme, Mark, Lane, Bryce, Richard & Susan (from Oklahoma) for decorating; to Mark and Avery for manning the guest book, and to everyone else who helped in any way. Thank you for the lovely cards and good wishes from all of you. We were truly honored.

Elk Point 4-H news

By ALEXIS BRISTOW
Club Reporter

Finally, 4-H is back!!! It is going to be an exciting year. We have more members this year than last. New to our club this year are the Cleaver Kids. What are they??? Well... they are kids between the ages of 6 to 8 who are future 4-Hers that can be involved in Cleaver kids' activities and projects. Cleaver Kids is a pilot projects offered to all Alberta 4-H groups. We have two new projects to our club. Along with horse, beef, photography, small engines, crafts projects, we now have sheep and creative options projects.

This year we already have had two cub meetings. At our second meeting we elected our new club president who is Britney Heathcote. Our new vice president is Seanna Ewasiuk. Bailey Oster is our new secretary. Brianna White is once again our treasurer and she is also one of our district representatives. Our club reporter once again is Alexis Bristow. Madeline Ludlage is our new Historian. Janice Tymofichuk is our Parliamentarian and is a district representative. This year we have two general leaders and they are Glenda Bristow and Mona Bristow along with Dwayne Vogel as the assistant leader.

Most projects have started and have been busy. The horse project has had a couple riding sessions at the arena and the craft projects were busy with Halloween items. The beef projects will have the weigh day on November 7.

It is not too late to join 4-H. Please contact one of the leaders for more information. November is National 4H month. Wear green to show your 4-H spirit. The next general meeting is on November 10 at 7 p.m. Horizon room at the arena. All new members are welcome.

Until next time, Happy National 4-H Month. 4-H trivia: Why green? Answer in the next article.

Hands-on training

The 4-H motto, 'Learn to do by doing,' certainly comes into play at events such as Sunday's beef project weigh day. At left, first-year member Dustin Pinder gets some guidance from his dad, Dale, a former member of the club, as they pour on a dose of parasite control. Bottom left, Nicole Tymofichuk fastens the official 4-H ear tag in place on her steer, while below, senior member Taylor Robbie checks on the weight of her project steer.
